

Salkantay Trek to Machu Picchu & Amazon River Cruise – 15 Days

Description

BOLIVIA EXPEDITIONS

While Machu Picchu is a must-see in Peru, there's more than one way to reach the iconic Inca site. During this 15-day itinerary, take on the lesser-known, more challenging Salkantay Trail on your way to the 15th-century citadel, catching stunning mountain views and visiting villages, coffee farms, and archaeological sites along the way. Once you've completed the trek, kick up your feet for a four-day cruise within the Peruvian Amazon rainforest.

Highlights

- Pick up unique souvenirs at the Sacred Valley's largest handicrafts market
- Hike the lesser-known Salkantay Trail to Machu Picchu
- Visit an organic coffee farm in the cloud forest near Lucmabamba

- Cruise along the Marañón River, the mainstem source of the Amazon

Travel Program

Day 1: Arrival in Lima

Welcome to Lima! Once you land in Peru's capital city, a private transfer will take you to your accommodations. If you have time, consider exploring the city on your own. Check out the chic shopping centers in Miraflores, visit Museo Larco's massive collection of pre-Columbian art, or take a walk past the lemon-yellow buildings surrounding the Plaza Mayor de Lima.

Day 2: Fly to Cusco

Today, it's off to Cusco to acclimate for your trek—and to check out the former capital city of the Inca Empire, of course! After you've been transferred from the airport to your hotel, head out into the city to walk its narrow streets, peruse local markets, or drink a cup of coca tea to help adjust to its 11,000-foot (3,000 m) elevation. For an early taste of the Inca architecture, you'll find later in the trip, head uphill to the sacred site Sacsayhuamán, known for its walls made of huge boulders.

Day 3: Pisac, Ollantaytambo & Chinchero Tour

Tour three of the Sacred Valley's gems today on a tour of Pisac, Ollantaytambo, and Chinchero. Start at Pisac Archaeological Park and check out the Inca-era complex, where you can find remnants of burial grounds, irrigation systems, and astronomy centers. Later, head down the hill to the modern town's handicraft market, the largest in the region. Then stop for lunch at a local Peruvian-Andean restaurant with views of the Urubamba River, which flows through the Sacred Valley.

From here, head to Ollantaytambo, one of the few remaining places in the Sacred Valley that have retained its original Inca urban planning. Walk through the streets with Inca-era canals and view the ancient houses still in use today. Climb the agricultural terraces for a bird's-eye-view of the valley. You'll be able to see some of the quarries from where the Ollantaytambo stone was sourced and marvel at the feat of engineering that brought them to the site.

Then, head back toward Cusco and stop at Chincho, a small Andean village sitting at a higher elevation than the other villages at 12,342 feet (3,762 m) above sea level. Enjoy breathtaking views of snowy mountains like Salkantay, which you'll hike to later in the trip, as you explore the Inca terraces, a colonial stucco church, and another artisanal market.

Day 4: Whitewater Raft the Urubamba River

Get ready for an adrenaline rush today! You'll be picked up from your hotel and driven for 1.5 hours to the Chuquicahuana area of the Urubamba River, affectionately known as "Chuqui," for an exhilarating day of white-water rafting. Experienced guides will help you prepare for the Class III and higher rapids in the area, and you'll be rewarded with lunch at the Cusipata River Lodge after two hours on the water. If that's not enough adventure, try the zip line that spans 328 feet (100 m) across the river!

Day 5: Cusco City Tour

Get to know Cusco on a guided tour through the city. First, walk Plaza de Armas and explore the Cathedral of Cusco, home to several paintings from the Escuela Cuzquena (“Cusco School”), known for their gold leaf accents. From there, head to the ruins of the legendary Qoricancha (“Temple of the Sun”), once the Inca’s most important temple, whose walls were said to be plated with gold. Wrap up the tour with visits to other archaeological sites, like Q’enqo, Tambomachay, and Puka Pukara.

Day 6: Hike to Soraypampa (Salkantay Trek Day 1)

Today, the Salkantay trek begins! Spend the next few days on the trail on the slopes of Salkantay, the highest mountain in the Vilcabamba range in the Peruvian Andes. Get an early start this morning when you leave Cusco and ride toward Marcoccasa, where the trail starts. Muleteers and their steeds will help carry the heavier items as you climb toward your first camp, Soraypampa, passing villagers and farmers. It can get quite chilly at camp at 12,631 feet (3,850 m) in elevation, so enjoy a well-deserved hot meal and a warm drink.

Day 7: Cross Salkantay Pass (Salkantay Trek Day 2)

Today will be one of the longest and most challenging days of the trek as you make your way up and over Salkantay Pass, but it will also be the most rewarding. Once again, get an early start and climb past boulder fields and switchback trails until you reach the pass at 15,190 feet (4,630 m). From there, continue downhill past more ancient boulders, rock formations, mountain fog, and wildlife until you reach camp at Chaulay.

Day 8: Visit a Coffee Farm (Salkantay Trek Day 3)

Follow the Salkantay River as you enter the cloud forest. As your elevation decreases, the air will get warmer, and the surrounding vegetation will grow denser—keep an eye out for orchids and bromeliads clinging to the trees. Your destination today is Lucmabamba, a village at 6,561 feet (2,000 m) that's home to a coffee plantation where you'll spend the night. Upon arrival, take a guided tour and learn how the beans are harvested and roasted to create some of the best coffee in the world.

Day 9: Hike to Llactapata (Salkantay Trek Day 4)

Today marks the last day of hiking on the Salkantay trail! Trek along an old Inca trail up to Llactapata Pass. It's here, at 8,974 feet (2,736 m), that you can look across the valley to spot Machu Picchu for the first time and enjoy views of Vilcanota Canyon, weather permitting. There is no shortage of archaeological sightseeing to do on your side of the valley, though—the pass is home to Llactapata, an Inca tambo (fort). Once you've explored the site, catch the train for the one-hour ride to Aguas Calientes

, the gateway to Machu Picchu.

Dressing appropriately for the mountains can make the difference between a pleasant trip and a really uncomfortable one. Clothing must provide the right degree of temperature, perspiration and be well ventilated. Preferably cotton clothing should be avoided, as in humid conditions they absorb body heat.

In general, the weather conditions in in the Andes of South America can vary from day to day and even throughout the day. Therefore, clothing must be versatile.

Please do not hesitate to contact us with any questions you may have regarding the necessary equipment.

Frequently Asked Questions

What our travelers or clients always ask questions before joining our trips, tours & expeditions, read all the information provided here.

Suggested FAQs

What experience and how fit do I need to be to climb this mountain? Is this program suitable for children or older people?

For our mountain climbing trips: If they are easily accessible mountains: For easy-climb mountains, well, you don't need much experience, but if you already want to climb mountains above 6,000 meters and the conditions become more difficult, we recommend if you already want to go through mountains above 6,000 meters, have a basic or intermediate course for a good preparation. It is very important to be physically, technically and psychologically prepared.

Regarding the preparation of children: Everything will depend on which mountain you want to climb with your children, once you are clear on which of our tours or mountains you want to go with your children, we can give you some advice or see how to prepare them before going with them.

Regarding older people: It all depends on the condition of experience and how well the person is in health, on many occasions older people are the best to walk in the mountains because they have more experience, so it is always good to ask and find out about their experience of older participant. Do I have what it takes to succeed on this expedition?

In the interest of the team's enjoyment and success, we work with every single guest to ensure they are properly prepared and ready for this expedition. We pride ourselves on vetting every member to make sure that the team can bond and succeed together. It really sucks to be grouped with members that are much faster, or much slower, than you are. No one wants to be the weakest link on a trip like this. By setting expectations and a solid training plan, we work to insure maximum cohesive success. Use this trip as an exercise motivator, and we will succeed together with style.

How can I get to the trailhead/meeting point?

For the pick-ups of each trip, depending on the place or the trip that you are going to make with us, the meeting point is always at our office, in one of our trips we pick you up where you are staying or staying, or in some cases a representative of our company will pick you up and then ship you to your transport to continue with your destination of the tour or trip you have booked with us. What happens in the event of bad weather?

About the meteorological conditions of the climate, we try to organize the trips of each tour in the best season to have the best views and enjoy the selected trip but sometimes even in good season we can have bad weather, in this case on hiking or treks trips the complications are minimal, but when this happens during high-altitude climbing expeditions, the complications can become very difficult, that is why the bosses or leaders of the local guides must always make the most correct decision for the safety of our passengers, so we always recommend listening to the best advice from the local guide assigned for each tour. Can I join a group?

We as a local company and connoisseurs of tours have departures on different dates. The best thing to do is to join a travel group to take care of your budget, and of course you can join our groups, but on trips like mountaineering we recommend going in small groups. To join a group, ask us for the dates and we will send you the necessary information to be able to join any of our trips.

Why go in a private trip: For trips whether trekking or high mountains, going privately is the most recommended option, but the costs are more expensive. So, if one joins a group, the prices will be more reasonable. In the mountains, the only disadvantage is if you are in a wall with another partner and if one of the participants gets tired or gets sick. In this case, you have to abort or cancel the summit and return together. For more information, contact us. We can schedule a call via WhatsApp to clarify all your questions.

In a mountain, for example, if 3 people go and one of the participants falls ill on the route, for security reasons they have to cancel or abort the summit or return all together. The same in a technical mountain if the climbing partner gets sick they all have to return, for these reasons sometimes it is better to go private only because for a single person the costs are more expensive for the same reason that the trip would already be private .
